

Feb. 15, 1865

Oliver Johnson,
Editor of the Anti-Slavery Standard,
48 Beekman Street,
New York City.

V. 6 #95

Boston, Feb. 15, 1865.

94

Dear Johnson:

I see, in the last Standard, an acknowledgment as from me, personally, of $100 by George E. Baker, Treasurer of the National Freedmen's Relief Association of the District of Columbia. This ~~was~~ ~~money~~ donation should be ascribed to the late Miss Jane Parkman, of Boston — being a portion of ~~the~~ a charitable bequest left to me, by her, to be expended for the benefit of the suffering freedmen. "Being dead, she yet speaketh" and comforteth. Please make the necessary correction.

Thanks for your letters sent prior to the late annual meeting of the Mass. A. S. Society. I have many things I should like to write about, but have no time to-day.

In galloping haste,

Ever faithfully yours,

Wm. Lloyd Garrison.

